Marshall retained, 2 others in run-off

SOUTH BAY - Willie Marshall won a second term as city commissioner, while Rennick Morris and Clarence Anthony will compete in a runoff election, Tuesday, March 27 to determine the other commission seat.

In the municipal election, Tuesday, March 13, 759 South Bay residents, a record 57 percent of the voters, cast ballots. Marshall received 354 votes to hold off the challenge of Mike Underwood who had 268 votes.

Morris, the incumbent, led the candidates in the race for the Group Two seat, with 276 votes. Anthony received 235 votes and Jim Shropshire, who received 101 votes, was eliminated from contention.

Marshall, 33, 165 N.W. Sixth Ave., said, "This is a very happy moment for me. I thank all the people who supported me."

It was a tough race, Marshall said, adding he campaigned very vigorously. "I'm just happy we came through."

Among Marshall's campaign platforms was continued work toward bringing industry of some type to South Bay. A VA hospital and a convenience store were among the possibilities, he said he would investigate.

Another important issue is getting more mobile homes in the city, Marshall said.

Morris, 55, 185 N.W. Sixth Ave., looking for a second term on the commission, said he was extremely satisfied with the results of the election. He said he expected a runoff because the candidates had split the vote.

Expressing optimism on his chances in the runoff, Morris said, "I'm going to show them really that I'm a candidate for all the people of South Bay."

Tuesday's results are a vote of support for his record, Morris said. "Mainly my experience helped me a great deal. The way I handled things in the last two years."

Morris has cited housing, streets and industrial growth as areas where he will continue to concentrate his efforts, if reelected.

Anthony, 24, 207 Villa Largo, said he the key now was "to let everyone know there is a runoff and who is in the runoff."

Saying he had hoped to win a seat outright in Tuesday's election, Anthony said he was still well satisfied with the results. "I think I did very well in my first election," he said.

Anthony said he thought the support was an indication that a lot of people agreed that quality representation and bringing industry to South Bay were important issues.

Looking toward the runoff, Anthony said he was optimistic and would be campaigning vigorously. He said the 101 votes which Shropshire gained in Tuesday's election could become extremely important.

City considers new engineer

By TOM KISKEN

PAHOKEE - The city council will consider replacing its current engineering firm.

Council members unanimously approved a motion to advertise bids for engineering firms at their meeting, Tuesday, March 13. Jim Sudarth the representative from the current firm, Russell and Axon, Daytona, failed to attend Tuesday's meeting.

Councilman Ronnie Graydon made the motion to advertise after several people said they had expected the city engineer to be at the meeting to advise the council on the sewage plant and other issues.

"The failure to attend meetings they should be at," Graydon pointed at as a reason to advertise bids. Absence at meetings has been a recurring problem, he added.

Ray Hatton II, who addressed the council concerning a water hookup, said, "I wouldn't have brought my proposal before you, if I didn't think he'd be here tonight."

Graydon said bid advertisement does not necessarily mean the engineering firm will be replaced, but it does bring attention to the problem.

Utilities Director Bill Cross said if the council intends to make a switch, they should wait a few weeks while the current firm finishes some ongoing business on behalf of the city.

In other business:

The council delayed a decision on granting a water hookup to a new mobile home park out near the airport until they could talk with the city's engineer.

Hatton requested the council approve the FUTURE firemen learn their art at the training drill held in Belle Glade, Thursday.

Training future firemen

BELLE GLADE - Future fire fighters were given a blazing baptism into their chosen profession, Thursday, March 8.

About 17 members of the Palm Beach County State Standard's Fire Fighters course battled a blazing house as part of their training, just inside the Belle Glade city limits off SR 80.

Instructors showed students methods of fighting interior fires, setting rooms on fire and then helping classmembers douse the flames. At the end of the 5-hour session, the condemned house was burnt to the ground and the class practiced exterior fire fighting methods.

Robert Brown, chief instructor for the course, said, "Anyone can dump on 300 gallons of water

Man charged with murder

PAHOKEE - A local man was charged with murder Tuesday morning, March 13 after the shooting of another local man Monday night.

Edward Lee Abner, 33, 169, Carver Place, Pahokee was arrested for the shooting of Willie Lee Collier, 31, 730 Whidden Road, Pahokee.

Detective Steve Haller III, Glades Sub Station of the Sheriff's Department, made the arrest after a joint investigation by the substation and the Pahokee Police Department.

Haller said Pahokee police responded to the shooting at about 11 p.m., Monday, and found Collier, who had been shot once in the abdomen. Collier was taken to Everglades Memorial Hospital where he was pronounced dead upon arrival.

At this time, the Pahokee Police Department notified the Sub Station of the homicide and the joint investigation ensued. Haller said eyewitnesses identified Abner by name.

Haller said that according to witnesses Abner and Collier had been having a verbal argument when Abner pulled a handgun and fired one shot. Abner then reportedly fled on foot.

Abner was arrested at about 2:30 a.m. Tuesday morning. He is being held without bond.

School safety problem aired

PAHOKEE - One child has already been hit on E. Main Place, and traffic limitations are needed before more are injured, according to the principal of Pahokee Elementary School.

Dr. Harris M. Blumberg asked the Pahokee City Council to take steps toward making the street a one-way route going northwest during school hours, and also limiting the speed limit to 15 miles per hour.

"If someone gets killed there, somebody's going to have to take responsibility," Blumberg said.

Monday, March 5, kindergarten student Clarence Jackson, 230 Shive Drive was hit by a car just after the dismissal bell and suffered a broken leg, bruised spine and a bruised collar bone. Jackson is reportedly doing fine.

Blumberg said the school has tried to minimize the safety problem for five years, but needs help with traffic regulations.

The council directed Mayor Duncan Padgett to meet with Howard Johnson, plant planning liaison with the Palm Beach County School Board and try to resolve the problem.

Members of the audience also verified the dangers of the street. Roy Hatton II said, "If you've never been in that area in the morning from 7:30-8 a.m., you don't know how congested it can get with school buses and everything."

Pahokee Chief of Police Carmen Salvatore III said he wasn't sure whether the street was owned by the city or the county. The street had been the county's responsibility, he added, although county officials have indicated all the streets are now the city's.

Councilman William E. McKinstry said as far as he knew the street was a county road.

Tip leads to drug arrest

BELLE GLADE - An informant tip led to the drug arrest of Rafael "Nino" Delufe, 26, of 531 S.E. First Street, Belle Glade, Friday, March 9.

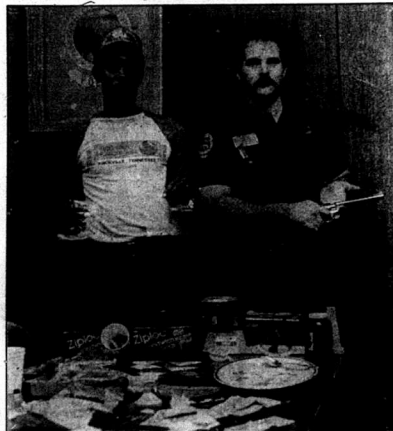

Delufe was arrested on charges of possession of cocaine, possession of cocaine with intent to sell and possession of marijuana.

Detective Albert Dowdell and Patrolman Fernando Sainz of the Belle Glade Police Department made the arrest following the drafting of a search warrant signed by Judge Don T. Adams.

Inspector Mike Miller said an informant's tip prompted the request for the search warrant.

Members of the Belle Glade Police Department and canine unit executed the search and found approximately one ounce of cocaine and a quantity of marijuana in excess of 20 grams. Narcotic paraphernalia was also found.

The street value of the cocaine was estimated at between $1,800 and $2,500. Delufe was placed under $10,000 bond and is now out on bond.

DETECTIVE Albert Dowdell and Belle Glade Patrolman Fernando Sainz survey the evidence confiscated following a drug arrest Friday evening, March 9.

Robbery suspect sought

BELLE GLADE - drawing of the man. He is a black male, about 25 years old, 5-foot-7 to 5-foot-11, 201 S.W. Ave. E., medium build, Belle Glade, early mustache and Tuesday morning, goatee. He was wearing a hat at the time of the crime and could be armed.

Detective John Carney said police have a composite they have seen this man can contact the Belle Glade Police Department.

Carney said the man reportedly walked up to the clerk, displayed a paper bag with a gun in it and stole an undisclosed amount of money.

Pahokee candidates qualify for race

PAHOKEE—Seven candidates have qualified to run for various city offices in the Tuesday, May 8 election.

Qualification began Friday, March 9 and by Tuesday every race had at least one candidate.

Incumbents Duncan Padgett, mayor; Carmen Salvatore III, chief of police; Betty McCoy, city clerk; Ronnie Graydon, city council; and Ada Conley, city council, all filed for the election.

Also two other council hopefuls, Curtis Miners, eyeing the seat currently occupied by Jon Mock, and William Johnson, aiming for Conley's position, have also qualified.

Jon Mock, incumbent, said he plans to qualify in the next week.

A summary of the candidates and their views on the issues follows:

PADGETT

Mayor since 1960 with the exception of 18 months in 1980-81, Duncan Padgett said he qualified Friday to run for another term in order to take care of unfinished business.

"We had a lot of projects started and I want to see things finished," said Padgett, 75, 630 S. Barfield Highway.

Padgett identified two major issues in his campaign: sewage and water plants along with the city manager.

The sewage treatment plant can be run efficiently without raising rates, Padgett said, adding that he is adamantly against a rate hike for sewer or water.

"If we don't tighten our belts we're going to slap another rate increase on all the residents which I'm definitely against," he said.

Padgett said he had doubts over the need of a city manager in Pahokee. "I'm not convinced that its going to do anything for the city as long as population is around 6,000," he said.

The current mayor type of government can run the city effectively, he said, adding that with just a few corrections Pahokee would have a very smooth, efficient government operation.

Padgett said voters should realize that much of the mayor's work is behind the scenes and not visible to the public. As mayor, he said, he is constantly working with people throughout the state at bringing grants and other benefits to Pahokee.

SALVATORE

Carmen "Skeets" Salvatore III, 42, 101 Salvatore Lane, qualified Monday to run for reelection as police chief, a post he has held for the past 15 years.

Voters should take a look at the record over the past 15 years, Salvatore said.

"We retain law enforcement here as well as any towns our size and some larger," the Pahokee native said.

The Pahokee force has built up valuable relationships with other law enforcement agencies through which much equipment and services are available, Salvatore said.

Salvatore said plans for the near future include a local Crime Watch organization which hopefully will improve the community's attitude toward the police.

Before returning to Pahokee 15 years ago, Salvatore worked with the West Palm Beach Police Department and previously spent four years as a police officer in the United States Air Force.

McCOY

"I've gotten too much involved now to get out of it," said Betty McCoy of her decision Monday to qualify to extend her 12-year tenure as city clerk.

As city clerk, McCoy said she serves as financial director, secretary to the city council, supervises city hall operations and does a little bit of everything.

McCoy, 48, 140 N. Greenstar Ave., pointed to her experience as her main attribute. "I feel like I'm the best qualified for the job based on my experience," she said. McCoy has worked for the city since 1964 in various capacities.

Just recently, McCoy earned her certification as a municipal clerk. The certification is based both on classes taken at Florida Atlantic University and on experience.

Future improvements at city hall include putting all the city's budget, financial statements and occupational license on the new computer system, McCoy said.

GRAYDON

Ronnie Graydon, 43, 140 N. Flame Ave., filed Friday to try to keep his seat on the council for a second term.

"I'm enjoying it," said Graydon, a Pahokee native.

Graydon also noted there was unfinished business to tend to, including the sewage problems. The city is making headway toward solving the problem, he added.

He said he would tell voters to look at both his educational background, which includes a bachelor's degree in business administration, and his past record.

"I think I've had a pretty good record over the last two years," he said.

CONLEY

Council President Ada Conley, 49, 388 Kismet Ave., said continuity is needed on the city council.

"I'd feel like I'd be walking away from unfinished business," she said about her qualification Tuesday to try to retain her seat a second term.

Much of the first two years as a city council member were spent just learning about the city operations, she said. The next two years would be the time when much could be achieved, Conley predicted.

Among city issues are the sewage plant, Proposition One and the city's new code enforcement board, she said.

Conley is an accountant with Leonard Dobrow and Company Inc., of Pahokee.

MINERS

A city councilman twice previously, 1966-68 and 1971-81, Curtis Miners said he would be the full time councilman the city needs.

Miners, 54, 316 Kismet Ave., qualified Monday and became the first candidate to qualify for the seat currently held by Jon Mock.

"I'll do whatever it takes to get the job done," Miners said, adding he has the time to work fulltime for the city. He owns two groceries in Immokalee.

Among the main issues, Miners said, is a city manager and rate increases.

"About the only thing a city manager could do is get grants. I'm not sure there's a need (for a manager)," he said.

Miners said he was against any sewage and water rate increase. "I'm against any added expense to the taxpayer," he said. Miners noted that in his previous terms as a councilman he never voted for a tax hike.

SEVEN PEOPLE were treated for minor injuries at Glades General Hospital on Wednesday, March 14, after the car they were in crashed into a palm tree off SR 80 near DuDa Road. The driver of the vehicle, Joseph Noelsaint said he was forced off the road by an oncoming vehicle attempting to pass.

Escapée caught in Mississippi

A GCI escapee was arrested Friday, March 9, in Greenwood, Mississippi on a series of charges including armed robbery and aggravated assault.

Bill Stacey, who escaped from GCI

Monday, Jan. 23, was arrested by the LeFlore County Sheriff's Department on charges of armed robbery, aggravated assault, possession of firearms by convicted felon and under the Mississippi habitual criminal act.

Detective Steve Haller, of the Glades Sub Station Sheriff's Department, said Stacey would face escape charges in Palm Beach County after he completed whatever term received in Mississippi.

Haller said local officials searched the Belle Glade area for about three weeks after Stacey's escape before concluding he was not in the area. Haller said Stacey had some family in Mississippi.

Lottery arrests continue

PAHOKEE - After being apprehended with a small amount of cash and lottery tickets, a woman was arrested for conducting an illegal lottery operation.

Ira Williams, 354 Rardin Ave., Apt. 22, of Pahokee, was arrested by Organizational Crime Bureau, and Glades Substation Sheriff's Department officials on Saturday, March 10.

According to the report, officials executed a search warrant at 354 Rardin Ave. Apt. 1, Pahokee and found Williams, about $600 in cash, along with numerous lottery tickets and receipt books.

Two weeks earlier, officials arrested two men carrying over $18,000 in cash and thousands more in lottery tickets.

Lt. Mike Mills said the lottery investigation is progressing rapidly and will continue.

Child abuse charged

BELLE GLADE - A local woman, charged with three counts of child abuse, was released from jail with the condition that she make no contact with her children, and provide weekly support payments.

Josephine Mills, 1902 Ilex Court, South Bay, was released by Glades Sub Station Sheriff's Department officials, Wednesday, March 7. County Court Judge Don Adams released Mills on Thursday on her own recognizance and set a court date of March 22. Mills must make weekly payments of $100 to her mother for care of the children and must stay away from the children, according to the release agreement. Detective Rick Radford said Mills was arrested after a Youth Services counselor reported the mother had left her children home alone on more than one occasion and had beaten them.

All four children, ranging in age from 2-9, with the exception of the youngest reported they had been beaten with an electric cord, Radford said.

The children were badly bruised, he stated. A pediatrician has examined the children and agreed that they were victims of abuse, Radford added.

Burglary charged

SOUTH BAY -Police here arrested a man Tuesday, March 13, for a robbery and a burglary committed earlier in the week. Bobby Lee Law, 31, 235 S.W. Seventh Ave., was arrested for a strong armed robbery on Wednesday, March 7 at the Blue Moon Cafe, and also for the burglary of the Econo Lodge on Thursday, March 8. Corporal Ray Burghoff said Law had been identified by witnesses to both crimes.

Law was picked up on N.W. 10th St. on Tuesday, in relation to the strong armed robbery. While he was at the police department he was identified by a witness to the Econo Lodge burglary.

City manager question on ballot

PAHOKEE -The city manager referendum will be on the May 8 municipal election.

The city council formally approved the placing of the referendum on the ballot, at their Tuesday, March 13 meeting.

Part of the referendum will read:

"Under the proposed city manager form of government, the city council members, the mayor and the city marshal (police chief) will continue to be elected. The city council will appoint the city clerk and the city manager."

If the referendum is approved by the voters, many of the mayor's duties will be transferred to an appointed city manager. Also, the city clerk would become an appointed, rather than an elected position.

No comment was made on the issue at the public hearing held immediately before the vote on the city manager ordinance.

Earlier in the evening, Carmen "Pops" Salvatore told council members he was against the city manager because city council members and the mayor can run Pahokee just as effectively.

"All you're going to do with a city manager is create a debt service that's not

City approves Arrowhead expansion request

BELLE GLADE - Development and growth were issues at the city commission meeting Monday, March 12 as three requests for new construction and rezoning were approved.

Commissioners approved plans for the expansion of Arrowhead Estates to include 86 additional mobile homes.

Plans to construct a new church during the next year were approved. And commissioners approved a request to rezone property on SW 16th St. which the owner hopes to sell to an industrial business.

Final plans for the subdivision of about 21 acres near Airport Park were approved unanimously on the condition that the developer, Arrowhead Estates Inc., meet all city subdivision requirements.

As part of the requirements, Robert Hooker, representing the developer, said he would give the city two lots for recreational and boundary purposes along with $5,000 to develop the lots.

There had been some question over the amount of land the developer is required to give the city. Attorney John Baker said Hooker's offer far exceeds city requirements.

Remar Harvin, city director of planning and development, said the expansion project was in the best interest of the city. "It's a good project, it will create a lot of housing," he said. The Planning and Zoning Board recommended the planning request be approved.

Rev. Clarence Brown of the St. Paul Church of Christ requested a special use approval for land on the 900 block of West Avenue A. so that a new church may be built.

The current facility, located across the street from the new site, is not big enough for the congregation, he said.

The commission's approval will allow the church to start collecting money for the project, Brown said, adding the church would be built as money is donated.

Hopefully, the church will be constructed in about 18 months, he said.

One resident wrote a letter to the commission, stating fears the new church could bring a bigger congregation which might bring a parking problem to the neighborhood.

Commissioners approved the Planning and Zoning Board's recommendation that a chain link buffer zone be established between the off-street parking lot and the church. Commissioners also agreed the church would have to obtain a five-foot easement from adjoining property owner, Robert Hooker.

Hooker said he would grant the easement on several conditions, including a fenced boundary.

Mayor Thomas Altman said the commission's approval was void unless an easement agreement could be reached between the church and Hooker.

Altman also informed Brown the church would probably not be able to hook on to the city's system until the Department of Health's moratorium is lifted, forecast for sometime next year. Brown said this would not pose a problem.

Malcolm "Buddy" Collins, of Fort Pierce, requested his property on the 300 block of S.W. 16th St. in the city be rezoned from business to industrial.

Several industries are interested in the land, including Florida East Coast Railroad, but will not even look at it, unless it is zoned industrial, Collins said.

"They don't want to spend this money and come to Belle Glade to have the commission turn it down," he said.

Harvin said the Planning and Zoning Board recommended approval of the zoning change, noting many businesses in the area are of the industrial type.

Rinker Cement Plant, Gold Coast Paving and Southern Bell are among the businesses in the area. Collins noted some of these are zoned business, but said just about all should be zoned industrial.

Commissioner George Goforth Jr. agreed to the request, saying that with a railroad track on the property, it would not be good for much but industrial.

Altman said he did not like the idea of the city's zoning laws being used as a selling tool. "I want to keep the zoning provinces from being marketed."

Cable TV rate hiked

BELLE GLADE - A cable television rate increase was approved by city commissioners in their regular meeting, Monday, March 12.

Sumbelt Cable Ltd., Lake Worth, asked the commission to raise its rate to $11 monthly, a $1.50 increase.

Commissioners approved the increase in a 4-1 vote, with George Goforth Jr. giving the only dissenting vote.

"I know they've improved, I still have problems with the way they handle complaints. There isn't no way I'll vote for a rate increase until they get it straightened out," Goforth said.

Commissioner Daniel Bythwood agreed the cable company should continue to work on improving repair response.

Sumbelt also requested a workshop be set up to discuss needed revisions in the city's agreement with the cable company.

In other city action, a group of residents told commissioners that N.W. 14th St. is badly in need of repairs. Mayor Thomas Altman said the street would be among several studied when the city begins its repaving project.

City Manager Tom Strang also indicated he would look into controlling the severe overgrowth of weeds along the canal on N.W. 14th St.

Also the commission approved a list of employees eligible to receive county funds to help them permanently relocate into new housing from condemned units.

Remar Harvin, city planning and community development director, said the residents would now go before the county board and if approved would each receive $15,000 to use toward a new housing structure.

Mayor Altman signed proclamations making March 12-16 Employ the Older Worker week and the month of March Mental Retardation Month.

NO serious injuries in this accident Wednesday, March 14, although two were treated for minor injuries. Hazel Stapleton, of Ontario, was charged with failure to yield right of way after the car she was driving turned from US 27 on to SR 80, and then collided with a truck driven by Elmer Spicht, of Seffner, who was northbound on US 27. Spicht then veered into a car driven by Billy Joe Duncan, of Texas. Stapleton and her husband, Claude were treated for minor injuries.

Responsive representation?

We have watched with some amazement the actions of State Senator Don C. Childers and his attitude towards the problems of the Glades.

On Jan. 27, a caucus of concerned citizens, business leaders, and elected officials gathered at the Clewiston Inn to press for the four-laning of State Road 80 coast to coast.

While the consensus of opinion was that a safe, high speed cross state highway is needed, Childers threw in the damper by saying that traffic to Fort Myers doesn't support four-laning. Childers said he doesn't support the four-laning and that it is "not going to happen."

In February, Childers was approached by local citizens seeking help with Hendry General Hospital's $555,315 bill to the Patients Compensation Fund.

"What we're talking about is money, big money," Childers said in response. "What we're talking about is bailing out Hendry County."

And more recently, local officials of the Association for Retarded Citizens - Hendry/Glades reported that Childers rudely walked out of a meeting they had scheduled with him.

Local voters should remember this the next time they go to the polls.

'But sir, this is 'Super Tuesday' election day, not the Super Bowl'

Super Tuesday thoughts

Tuesday was kind of a blah day for Republicans, Independents, and Liberals, but the Democrats had a lot of fun. They got to vote on who they'd like to see elected President even if he isn't running. And it seemed like almost everybody on the ballot wasn't any more or else never planned to in the first place.

What's even funnier (if you don't mind spending a whole of a lot of money on an impractical joke) is that even the front-runners could drop out by next November or the party could elect a compromise candidate. That's when they pluck some stranger out of the balcony, comb his hair and straighten his tie because he (or she (fat chance)) has been selected to replace two other candidates who've run out of balloons.

You'd have expected a lot of people to be confused about Tuesday's just-for-the-fun-of-it ballot, and they might have been if they'd shown up. Just for the record, there were ten nominees for the nomination but five of them didn't count. The two prime non-candidates were Richard B. Kay and Stephen A. Kocak who don't want to be anything but like to have their names on ballots, I guess. Mr. McGovern's name was on there, he likes running for President and it's always nice to have him along — it keeps up a tradition. Unfortunately, there weren't any delegates pledged to vote for him, but not to worry, there were 13 delegates listed who are pledged to vote for people who aren't running plus 13 delegates who don't know who they'll vote for either. They are called "uncommitted," which means they go to political conventions because they like to and the only instructions they have are: "Have a good time and send us a postcard if you think of it."

The importance of Super Tuesday's ballot was not the nominees, however. (Even as I write this I can't believe it.) It was to elect delegates, totally unknown. It didn't matter that you don't know who Murgatroyd McFigglesby from Gosh Whereat is. You just voted for anyone who'd taken a pledge to vote your choice — even though the two of you were betting on an entry scratched before the race begins.

And even if the two of you are backing a real live candidate, you (the voter) can't be sure how many ballots your surrogate will hang in there for at the convention. It would have been kind of nice to know what Florida's rules are on instructed delegates before voting to send some faintheart to Frisco, but once a fiasco gets underway there's just no end to it.

Meanwhile, of course, the Democratic campaign will really start to heat up and maybe before September the candidates will stop sounding like Tweedledee and Tweedledum. So far, they've all come out against unemployment (especially their own) and they're all against nuclear war, but none of them has come up with a positive defense — such as having a Russian vice-president or secretary of state. They all think we should resume talks with Cuba but is anybody taking Spanish? To a man, they're for civil rights when most of us are concerned about criminal rights always seeming to come out on top.

They're agreed that the federal deficit is too much. Last week Congress proposed to decrease the deficit by increasing taxes on cigarettes and booze. Not a word about chewing gum and root beer taxes. Some Floridians are already smoking and guzzling as hard as they can just to keep the state solvent. How patriotic can we get and still stay sober most of the time?

A few more Super Tuesdays and the question could become, "Why should we want to?"

Little Mr. and Miss Black Gold Contest planned

BELLE GLADE - The Belle Glade Junior Women's Club is sponsoring a Little Mr. and Miss Black Gold contest. It will be April 5 at 7 p.m. at the Dolly Hand Cultural Arts Center.

There will be two categories with a limit of 30 contestants in each: Tiny Mr. and Miss Black Gold, ages two to three; Little Mr. and Miss Black Gold, ages four to six.

All contestants will be judged on appearance and personality. Each of the four to six year olds will be asked a question on stage.

Applications may be picked up at the Belle Glade Chamber of Commerce. Only the first 30 applications returned in each category will be accepted.

The application, plus the $15 entry fee must be returned by hand to Cindy Baez at the office of James Gann, 125 S.E. Ave. E, Belle Glade.

The contest is open to all children from Lake Harbor to Canal Point.

Worship, action, decision, response

The time is Sunday morning, just before eleven o'clock. You and your family slip quietly into your pew in your church. The organist is playing a hymn or some classical music softly on the organ. The people are sitting silent, or perhaps their heads bowed, offering a prayer to God. The people in your church, and others throughout the world, have come together to worship God.

Worship is defined as reverence paid to worth. In the case of the Christian religion this would be God. We worship God because we hold His worth in reverence. Someone has said that man's chief goal is to glorify, or adore, God. With all the variety of worship within the various denominations, what can be our basis for understanding worship of God? The place to begin is with God whom we worship.

First, worship is God acting. You see, God acts: God is acting, and God will continue to act. The early day worship of the Children of Israel began with recitation of God's saving acts, and we worship an active God. He is the creator of heaven and earth. God is sovereign of the universe, and is therefore controller of the destiny of mankind. He continues to create and recreate. The Hebrew worship repeated time and time again the mighty acts of God — creation, the call of Abraham, the Exodus from Egypt, and the rescue from Babylonian exile.

God is self-revealing. He reveals Himself in nature. In the burning bush, thunderstorms, in fame and drought God showed His purpose to the Israelites. The prophets revealed God and His message to His disobedient children. His complete revelation was in Jesus Christ.

God is personal. God acted always as a Father to His children. He was concerned in a personal way, and therefore, sent His Son to be the means of salvation to His people. If the personal relationship is missing, it is because we are in a sinful situation; we have turned our back on God, whether we know it or not, and then there is no knowledge of God. The intimate, personal relationship is absent — only cold, rebellion, and nothingness.

Worship is hearing the proclamation of the mighty acts of God, which culminate in His mightiest act of all, His coming on earth in Jesus Christ. God has acted for us the next move is up to us.

Second, worship is decision. The decision must be yes or no for God; there can be no neutral position. After we have heard what God has done for us, we must decide for Christ. In the Old Testament, Isaiah said, literally, that unless you rely completely on God, as a baby on its mother, you cannot be nourished. Jesus said, "Unless you turn and become like children, you will never enter the kingdom of heaven." The requirement is absolute. We must accept and believe God's word, God's acts for us. This can come in worship.

In the reading of the Scripture and the proclamation of God's Word, the worshipper ought to imagine himself a part of the original participants, and thereby understand that these acts were done for him also. This is hard for us to understand — that God has acted for us.

The love of God who acts, calls us to decision to respond. Worship is response on our part. Joshua calls to the people, "Now, therefore, fear the Lord and serve him in sincerity and faithfulness." Joshua cries out, "As for me and my house, we will serve the Lord."

Man, in his worship of God, is overwhelmed by the majesty, sovereignty, holiness and mercy; and only realizes he is a poor sinner who is called, yet compelled to serve and obey God.

The response is an echo of the great proclamation of God's almighty acts and the acceptance of His service. Worship is the presentation of self in God's offering place.

Employers seminar reveals money-saving ideas

By BRENDA BUNTING
BELLE GLADE — Glades businessmen who attended a seminar last week have a better idea of how they can save big bucks while helping unemployed people and the community as a whole. Employees who qualify for certain tax credits could save their employers up to 50 per cent on the employee salary, according to Linda Metzger, manager of Job Service in Belle Glade.

The seminar was sponsored by the Job Service of Florida and the Belle Glade Chamber of Commerce.

Metzger outlined several benefits employers could take advantage of to be eligible for Federal Income Tax Credits as well as provide better trained employees.

She explained the Targeted Jobs Tax Credit (TJTC), a program that offers an employer Federal Income Tax Credits as an incentive to hiring certain targeted groups or individuals.

"This is probably the program that is most widely used in the Glades," Metzger said. "Fifty percent of the first $6,000 is eligible and there is a 25 percent credit off state taxes if they are in the tax credit zone," she added.

During the second year, the employer can save another $1,500 for a total savings to the company of $4,500.

She said the most important factor in the TJTC was that an employer must apply for the credit no later than the day the new employee starts work.

Metzger outlined other programs the employer could take advantage of, including the Job Training Partnership program, enterprise zone tax credits, and two on-the-job training programs, one aimed at veterans of the Vietnam and Korean Wars.

"We've saved thousands and thousands of dollars (with the TJTC program)," said Rachel Parrish, assistant director of operations for Royal's Department Stores.

Mrs. Parrish said Royal's has been using the TJTC for years and they have more recently been taking advantage of the enterprise zone program by hiring employees from within the city's two zones.

Employers can also save up to $10,000 by taking advantage of the two OJT programs by training qualified employees in qualified growth industries.

Remar Harvin, director of the Belle Glade Community Development program told the group it could benefit from a program the city offers by obtaining lower interest rates on loans through industrial development bonds.

He said the bonds were a "very creative tool (being used by the newly-formed Belle Glade Community Economic Council)," will be sponsoring a Faith, Spring Youth Revival. Services will begin Monday, March 19, with nightly worship at 7:30 p.m.

The revival will continue through March 30. The first week of the revival will feature Evangelist Larry Lee, youth minister of the Church of God by Faith, 625 S.W. Avenue B, Belle Glade, will be sponsoring a Faith, Spring Youth Revival. Services will begin Monday, March 19, with nightly worship at 7:30 p.m.

The savings comes about, he explained, because industrial development bonds are tax free so lending institutions will charge interest 6 to 7 percent under normal rates.

He also mentioned the U.S. Housing and Urban Development-sponsored Urban Development Acquisition Grant program (UDAG) that businesses could use for loans.

He said the City of Belle Glade would apply for the funds for the developer and that as the money was repaid, it could be reused by the city for refunding to other developers.

In still another area, Harvin said the employers could save large amounts of money by taking advantage of the two enterprise zones formed in the city.

The program allows residents who live in those areas, and who are otherwise qualified, new jobs and the community to save employers 25 percent of their salaries, up to $1,500 a month.

A second facet of the program allows businesses moving into the enterprise zone, or on the job training businesses already within the areas expanding to produce new jobs, to save up to $50,000.

The final part of the program even allows businesses that don't save money by contributing to the program.

Harvin said contributors are allowed 50 percent credit, up to $200,000 for the state, of their donations in state income taxes.

The various speakers said the programs benefit employers but are designed to reduce unemployment, which

Carnival nets $3,900 for kids

BELLE GLADE - Kids made the most of the carnival while it was in South Bay and now the proceeds from the carnival will be used to help the kids make the most of themselves.

About $3,900 was made from the six-day carnival, which will go to the South Bay branch of the Behavioral Awareness Training.

The carnival, put together by the South Bay Police Department, concluded Sunday, March 11. While carnival organizers said business was slow, sponsors were very appreciative of the funds raised.

Director of Behavioral Awareness Training Vernita Cox said, "This will take us a long ways."

The funds will all be used directly in South Bay, Cox said, adding most of the funds would be used in the cultural center, currently housed at Tanner's Park. The funds will help the center offer classes in piano, sewing, cooking and dance.

Cox stressed the cultural center is for people of all cultures. "We try to make young people aware of themselves, make them aware of their potential," she said.

The center is also offering to help students prepare for SSAT, high school equivalency tests, Cox said.

The center's program will be further expanded when more space is located, Cox added.

IT'S off to the Bahama's for Richard Botts, right of Belle Glade, who won the Kiwanis Club's Bahama cruise give-away. Botts' all expense paid weekend cruise begins March 23. Presenting the cruise tickets to Botts is Kiwanis Club member Steve Weeks'. About $800 was made in the give away, Weeks said. Profits go right back into club activities.

Festival of Afro Arts Saturday

The Glades Festival of Afro Arts will be Saturday, March 17. The parade will line up at 9 a.m. at Glades Central Community High School at 10 a.m. and a journey to Lake Shore Park.

There are many activities planned for the day. The theme is "This spirit must live on."

Raider cagers lose in state semis to Tallahassee

By TOM KISKEN

LAKELAND While the ending was a little sour, the Glades Central Community High School boys basketball team capped a sugar sweet season this week.

The Raiders state champion hopes turned awry with a 54-45 semi-final loss to Tallahassee Godby, Friday, March 16. Even the loss, however, can't put a damper on the team's excellent season.

The team, 27-5, made its first trip to the state tourney ever and finished with its highest state ranking ever, fifth. The Raiders won five tournaments during the year and made it as high as third ranked in the state among AAA teams.

Coach Harold Taylor said, "The only thing that's not satisfying is the games we lost that we shouldn't have." He listed the state loss, along with both Pahokee games, among those that slipped away.

Against Godby, the Raiders were in the game until the final seconds. With just about a minute left, the team had pulled within one point, riding a burst led by Terry Givens and Rhondy Weston.

However, Nate Johnston missed a shot, Godby scored and then took control of the game.

Taylor said he thought it was obvious that Johnston was fouled in that situation and in another key moment early in the third quarter. Noting he rarely complains about officiating, Taylor said he questioned some of the calls in the Godby game.

Fouls played a very crucial role in the game. Givens and Weston played almost the entire fourth quarter with four fouls and no starter finished the game with less than two fouls.

Godby hit 14 of 21 free throws, while the Raiders converted just three of five.

The early going was back and forth. Both teams played a bit nervously at first and the opening period ended with Godby ahead, 13-12.

The Raiders used their inside play to open a four point lead in the second quarter and then went into a slowdown type ball control offense.

Taylor said he chose to control the pace in order to protect some of his players in foul trouble.

The Raiders, Taylor said, had a chance to put Godby away with the controlled pace, but let the opportunities slip by. The team wasn't aggressive enough, and didn't go to the basket when an opening occurred, he said.

"You have to execute no matter what type of style you're playing," Taylor said.

Late in the second quarter Godby gained some ground and the teams went into half tied at 25.

Taylor said he thought the Raiders were still in good shape. The team needed to score early and take control of the game in the second half, he commented.

The Raiders scored first in the third period, but couldn't follow it up. For the quarter, the Raiders scored only four points.

Taylor said the team's goal is to score a point on each possession. In the third quarter the team's four points came on 10 possessions. Going into the final quarter, the Raiders were looking at a four-point deficit.

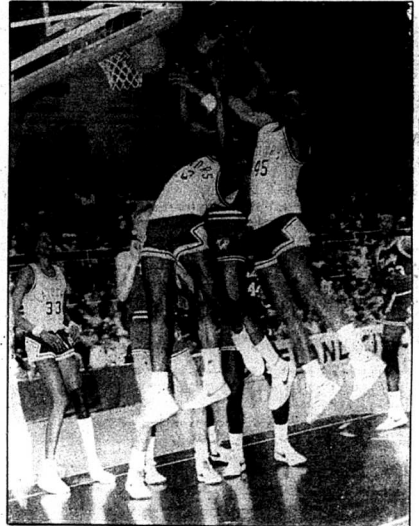

Individually, Taylor said David Givens had an outstanding game for the Raiders. The junior guard made only one turnover the entire game, while playing excellent defense.

Givens and Weston led the team in scoring with 16 apiece and Weston added 8 rebounds.

Nine players suited up in the Raider basketball jerseys for the last time in Lakeland: Weston, Givens, Johnston, Charles Dowers, Tommi Lee Anderson, Kenneth Torrence, Eric Smith, Winston Farley and Lawrence Duncan.

Taylor credited all his seniors, starters and reserves for playing key roles on the team. Once each player discovered his role and fulfilled it, the team "became pretty good," he said.

Some were asked to score and others were asked to do other things, Taylor noted. Everyone had a role, including the reserves who through practice and limited game situations contributed their share to the team effort.

Raiders edge Devils

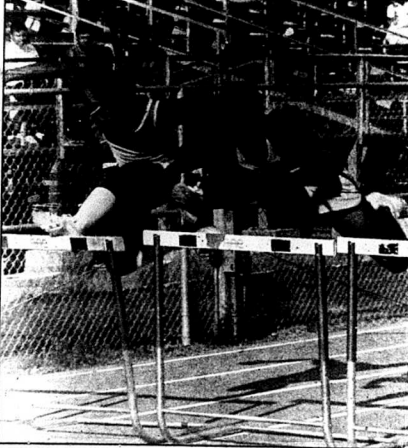

PAHOKEE --The Pahokee High School Blue Devils baseball team was edged by Glades Central Community High school, 6-5 in nine innings, Friday, March 9.

Jacinto Paez scored the winning run on a single by Lionel Campbell. Paez, who had three hits, stole second to get into scoring position.

Pahokee had the lead going into the seventh, but the Raiders scored two runs on a bases loaded wild pitch to tie the game.

The Blue Devils' biggest inning was a three-run spurt in the fifth, sparked by singles from Barry Jackson and Alfredo Fernandez.

Starting pitcher Richard Payne went all the way for Pahokee and struck out eight.

Benjamin bested the Gators in West Palm, coming from behind in the seventh and final inning to win 11-10. The winning run scored on a walk.

The Gators took an early lead in the game and had a 9-5 advantage after three.

Friday, the Gators beat Moore Haven 15-8. The Gators opened up a 5-1 first inning lead and then maintained a comfortable margin.

Black Gold Half Marathon growing

The number of runners in the United States increased from five million to approximately 20 million between 1977 and 1980, and Belle Glade is keeping pace.

Each year the Black Gold Half Marathon and three-mile runs, get bigger, attracting more local and out-of-town runners.

The runs will begin at 7:30 a.m. April 14 at the Glades Central Community High School football field, following the same route as last year with all participants finishing at the high school.

Three milers will turn around on Avenue L. Half marathoners will continue down Avenue L to the Herbert Hoover Dam, past the world's largest sugar cube and back to the high school.

Early entrants will receive a Black Gold T-shirt. Trophies will be given to the first three winners in the three respective divisions.

Registration forms are available at the Belle Glade City Hall, Chamber of Commerce or by calling 996-5140 between 8-5 Monday through Friday.

Keep pace. Run, volunteer to help with times or water stops, or cheer the runners. The Back Gold Half Marathon will conclude prior to the parade.

Raider wrestlers work toward '85

BELLE GLADE — 30th (out of 78 teams) in the state. "Considering the fact that we were such a young team, I'm very satisfied with the year," Lasagna said, adding the team lost several dual meets which could have gone either way.

Individual leaders for the team were: Wins: Juran Sampson and John Hubbard, 20. Team points: Sampson, 102. Pine, Hubbard, 10. Superior decisions (12 or more points difference): Frank Kelly, 17. Major decisions (6-1 points difference): Hubbard, 17. Fastest decision: Hubbard, 12 seconds. Three-point near falls: Hubbard, 14. Two-point near falls: Kelly, 17. Takedowns: Sampson, 32. Reversals: Sampson, 23. Escapes: Phillip Farley, 20.

Coach Frank Lasagna, coming off a 7-6 dual meet record, said things look bright for next year. Only two seniors from this year's team, Frank Kelly and Juran Sampson, will be lost.

Much will depend on how much the wrestlers grow over the year and who ends up in the various weight classes, Lasagna said. This year the team started out slowly but came on very strong, finishing third in the district tourney, eighth in the regionals and

50th reunion brings back memories in Pahokee

By TOM KISKEN

BELLE GLADE - Remember the time when Iva Mock sneezed and the whole class broke up.

Or how about the time, the coach, Frank Hobson, beat Mack Parker in a race, (the coach was on crutches.)

50-year-old memories were revived Saturday night, March 10, as the Pahokee High School Class of 1934 held its 50th reunion at the Belle Glade Elks Club. About 21 classmates, of a class of 29, spent the night reliving days of Model A's and soda shops.

As one classmate said, "You just stick around here and you'll hear it all."

The reunion lasted the weekend. Sunday morning the class attended baccalaureate ceremonies at the First Baptist Church, in Belle Glade. After church a picnic was held out at classmate Hub Spooners' home in Belle Glade.

Nine out of the class still live in the Glades and only had a short trek to the reunion. Others came from across the nation to see their old classmates, with the longest journey belonging to Edna Pearl Wierman who came from Pasadena, Calif.

All the 1934 graduates agreed the trip was well worth it. Christine Herring Crosby, now of Orlando, said she passed up her own daughter's wedding to make the reunion.

"I told her, 'This is a once in a lifetime thing, you might be married two, or three times,' she said.

Paul Keen came from Lakeland to make the reunion. "It feels good... Makes you feel young again," he said.

The class met seven years ago and is already planning its next get-together. Eugene Goodbread informed all his classmates, most of whom were accompanied by spouses or friends, at the banquet that he expected to see them at the 75th reunion.

Two of the class' teachers also made the reunion. In fact, classmates still referred to Frank Hobson, football coach back in 1934, and Ruth Bishop, home economics teacher, as Mr. Hobson and Mrs. Bishop.

Mrs. Bishop said just being among her students brought back a rush of memories. "I can look at your faces and see so much of you back 50 years ago," she told the class.

Making sure Coach Hobson was out of earshot, football team members remembered the coach's fondness of discipline and the calisthenics the team had to run through.

The team's name was Longhorns, not bean riders, Dan Padgett remembered. "Everyone used to call us the bean pickers, but we were the Longhorns," he said. Classmates remembered the Pahokee reputation for athletic excellence was well upheld by the class of '34.

While the stories of old filled the air, friends also caught up on each other's and what has happened in the last 50 years. Eugene Goodbread, now of Colorado Springs, Colo. flew 78 missions for the United States Air Force in World War II and made the grade of colonel before retiring in 1971.

Sally Taylor (Stein) Teague has lived in Belle Glade for the past 50 years (back in 1934, Belle Glade and Pahokee students all went to school together in Pahokee).

After graduation, Mrs. Teague became a cosmetologist, running her own shop in Belle Glade. Later she worked as a postal clerk and seven years ago re-married, to Paul Teague.

Similar biographies for the entire class filled a 50th anniversary booklet that was distributed to all attending the banquet. Classmates signed booklets to be sent to those unable to attend the banquet.

Five members of the class of '34 have died and were remembered in prayer at the reunion. They were: Henry Bridges, Edward Thompson, Carl Thompson, Billy Weeks, Mary Huff and Genevieve Hull Wilson.

A.D. Danks, now of Jackson Mississippi, was master of ceremonies and the invocation was given by Dan Padgett, Hamilton, Ohio.

Members of the 50th anniversary committee, which made the reunion possible included: Iva Mock Schoepel, chairman; Mallie Maloy Swayne, Sally Taylor Teague, Kathryn Gray Spencer, Margaret West, Mark Challancin and Hub Spooner.

MEMBERS of the Pahokee High School Class of 1934 who attended the 50th reunion held Saturday night included: Mark Challancin, Dale Danks, Eugene Goodbread, J.R. Miller, Dan Padgett, Hub Spooner, H.C. Smiddy Winnie, Margaret Busch Sumner, Thelma Davidson, Kathryn Gray Spencer, Sally Teague Taylor, Annie Merle Maloy Carter, Mallie Maloy Swayne, Leona Miller, Iva Mock Schoepel, Monteen Parramore Woody, Margaret West, Imogene Sanders, Christine Herring Crosby, Edna Pearl Wierman, Park Keen, and teachers: Frank Hobson and Ruth Bishop.

Christine Herring Crosby passed up her own daughter's wedding to attend. 'This is a once in a lifetime thing,' she said.

CLASSMATES renewed old friendships at the Pahokee High School's 50th reunion, Saturday night.

Car wash slated

The Sensational Zionsaires will be sponsoring a car wash Saturday at the Divi-members Betty Pitts, Eueber Buss and Marie Altman elected to the committee.

Secretary Mary McLendon reported on the previous meeting. Valentine program chairman Alene McAllister expressed her appreciation to all the members for "the excellent support and work in decorating for the Valentine Party meeting February 9 in the Fellowship Hall of the First Baptist Church."

This annual event was well attended by the membership and a majority of members from the guest clubs. A nominating committee was chosen with Pahokee, Chosen and Garden Study Club.

Janice Fleish's choral group from St. Peter's Lutheran Church entertained with a "skit-in-song". Dinner music was provided by the "Crooked Hook Orchestra" during the refreshment hour.

Adele Zwick reported a sell-out for the club's chartered bus trip to the International Orchid Show in Miami, Saturday, March 10 and plans were finalized.

Club members chartered a bus March

10 and attended the Coconut Grove Exhibition Center in Miami and continued on to the Orchid Show.

Over 30,000 varieties were displayed from all over the world. The orchids were displayed in surroundings with waterfalls, coral rock and Florida hardwood trees and covered two acres.

Airport re-opening approved

BELLE GLADE — Port. Bill Underwood, assistant financial director for the city, said the opening of the Belle Glade Municipal Air- day morning, March 13.

The FAA had closed the airport about a year and a half ago when construction on 3,750 foot runway began. Monday evening the painting of the strip was completed and consequently the airport was reopened Tuesday.

Planes have been landing at the airport during the last 15 months, but at their own risk. Underwood said the FAA approval would prompt insurance companies to once again recognize and cover the airport.

Underwood said he doubted the FAA's approval would have much effect on traffic at the airport.

Airport renovations will continue, Underwood said. The city is getting ready to accept bids for: fencing the south side and end of the runway; lighting the runway with both flood lights and radio-triggered lights; and installing a wind cone.

Underwood said he hoped the fencing and lighting, which along with the runway constitute phase one of the airport renovation plan, will be completed sometime this summer.

and put out a fire. We want to show them how to fight fire most efficiently.

Teams of two put out the interior fires, concentrating on minimizing the amount of damage caused by the fire and water, according to Brown. Speed and caution were stressed by instructors.

The students participating in the burn were near completion of the 240-hour course which will hopefully enable them to acquire a state fire fighting certificate.

Students have been taught the theories of fire fighting and also gone on several practical excursions, learning how to use hoses and ladders. Thursday's burn was their first actual fire fighting experience.

The fire fighting course is centered in Boynton Beach but includes students from all over the county.

2 confess to armed robbery

BELLE GLADE — Two Belle Glade men confessed to an armed robbery of a taxi cab the night before being apprehended in an attempted taxi robbery, according to Glades Sub Station Sheriff's Department reports.

Gary Lee Fashaw, 18, 41 Roosevelt St., Belle Glade, and Samuel Lemar Billing, 1373 Radverville, Belle Glade were charged Thursday, March 8, with armed robbery.

carrying a concealed firearm and conspiracy to commit armed robbery. Billing will also be charged with carrying a concealed firearm by a convicted felon, according to the report.

At about 11 p.m. Wednesday, cab driver Alando Ferris reported he was robbed by two males who asked to be taken from Belle Glade to South Bay. Ferris reported the men pulled a gun at 1291 First St., then stole $200 and a CB radio.

The next night at about 10:15 p.m., cab driver Sam Morrison said he picked up two men in Belle Glade who on the way to South Bay said they needed to go to Radverville. Morrison refused and took them to South Bay where they repeated they needed to go to Radverville, according to the report.

Morrison then pulled up alongside South Bay Police Department patrol car.

Officer Melvin

Thomas talked to one of the passengers and found a .22 calibre handgun, which he confiscated. The other man also had a .22 calibre gun.

Thomas then notified the Sub Station of the incident and the two men were transferred to the Sub Station where, according to the report, they confessed.

Bond for Billing was set at $20,000 and Fashaw's bond was set at $10,000.

hookup so that Hatten Enterprises can progress with plans to develop a 70 plus unit mobile home park.

County approval has been received, Hatten said. The company will provide its own sewage system, because of the moratorium on the city, he noted.

Councilman William E. McKinstry questioned what would happen when the sewage moratorium was lifted and the developers would be forced to hook up with the city.

Hatten said a decision could be held until the next meeting. Construction of the park, which will include tennis courts and a swimming pool, is tentatively slated to begin sometime in the summer.

The council briefly discussed a report on the sewage treatment plant from the Center for Training, Research & Education for Environmental Occupations (TREEO) at the University of Florida.

A TREEO team recently visited Pahokee and examined the sewage treatment operations. Several recommendations for improving operations are made in the report.

Councilman Walter Rashley said the report did just what the council had hoped: show deficiencies and outline ways to improve.

Council President Ada Conley agreed, "Its up to us now."

The council approved several renovation and cleanup projects for City Hall, including new drapes, repaired lights, new wall paper and paint repair, carpeting and a new door to the clerk's office. Total estimated cost was $5,850. The council indicated efforts would be made to cut the cost for wall papering and re-painting.

An expenditure of up to $600 was approved for a printing unit to complement the city's new computer system. City Clerk Betty McCoy said the unit will allow water bills to be output by the computer.

The council approved an expenditure of about $700 from federal revenue sharing funds for bite suits to facilitate the training of the police department's new K-9.

A bid of $9,196 was awarded to Pahokee Ford for a Limited four-door which will serve as a new business car for Utilities Director Bill Cross.
